Is your family experiencing difficulties?

The Family Preservation Program at Way Station, Inc. is an intensive, in-home program that is designed to help families resolve crises and stay together. Family service workers come to your home to help your family manage crises with behavioral and clinical interventions.

Teams work with your family for a minimum of five hours a week, for up to six weeks, to identify family based goals and create long term changes. Step down services are also available if further assistance is needed.

The Family Preservation team is available 24 hours a day 7 days a week to help families cope with crisis.

What services are included in the Family Preservation Program?

The Family Preservation Program can provide services such as parenting skills, crisis management/prevention, family education in the areas of child development, mood management skills & communication skills.

The team may also teach families life skills such as using the public transportation system, budgeting and social skills.

The Family Preservation Team will also teach families how to access and work with community resources that will enable the family to remain living together once they have completed the program.

Family Preservation strives to help families recognize their ability to create change within their family.

The Family Preservation Team has assisted local families in finding ways to:

- ♦ Cope with feelings of anger, pain, fear and frustration.
- ♦ Manage difficult behavior in the home.
- ♦ Reconnect in ways that promote respect, support and communication.
- ♦ Locate community support and resources for family needs.
